Nursery retailers across the UK are planning their visit to Harrogate International Nursery Fair – the UK's only nursery trade show – to source the latest baby products and show their support of the UK's nursery industry.

Alan Peacock of Little Peas Dunfermline, told Penny Franks, editor of Nursery Today: “Harrogate is a ‘must’ for our business and I feel that we should all support the show if we can – use it, or lose it. Any forum that allows retailers to visit multiple suppliers at once, efficiently and in one building makes total sense.”

Derek Bavaird of Jan Stewart Prams, added: “Jan and I have already made our reservations to stay and attend the entire event. I think it's important to show exhibitors that level of loyalty and respect for their efforts – particularly with the extensive and generous hospitality offered.”

Many exhibitors are putting together some extremely generous SHOW OFFERS making visiting this year more worthwhile than ever before.

Don't mind if I do

BabyStyle is finalising its plans for Harrogate and what it hopes will be another bumper show. Its primary focus for 2018 will be the all new Oyster3 which it is excited to display at Harrogate for the first time. This will be displayed along with new colours and samples from across its extensive range.

An after-show party is planned for Sunday 25th from 5.00pm where all Nursery Fair attendees are invited to join the BabyStyle team on its stand and raise a glass to a successful show from the ‘BabyStyle Gin Bar’.

Product safety advice

Visitors and exhibitors at Harrogate International Nursery Fair are invited to come and speak to representatives of Nottinghamshire Trading Standards which has partnered up with the Baby Products Association.

Julie Milne of the trade association, explains: “This a part of the Association’s Primary Authority Partnership and visitors and exhibitors can ask advice about standardisation or regulatory issues they may have – and this is across the whole range of child care articles. For Association members, this advice can be given as Assured Advice which is published on the Trading Standards Information Hub and publicly accessible.

Chris Elgenia and Tim Watson will be available on the Association’s stand on Sunday from 11am to 5pm and Monday from 10am to 4pm respectively.
